DIRECTOR'S NOTE

This is the first show to take place in the Vincent Price Theatre since the 2019 production of The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time. Apart from the seniors, most of the cast and crew of Eurydice have never seen or experienced a show in this theatre before. In fact, I'm sure there are many students at MICDS who don't even know that the Vincent Price Theatre exists. Compared to the Orthwein Theatre, there are fewer seats, and there is far less of a physical distance between the actors and the audience. This creates a uniquely intimate viewing experience. Eurydice and Orpheus are so close to the audience, it makes it much easier to get drawn into their world.

I'm very proud of the work that everyone has put into this production, and I wanted to acknowledge it because it is a large part of what makes this show so great.
